MOON DEATH IS UPHELD

HOMEWARD BOUND — M-Sgt. Robert E. Reynolds, whose acquittal in the fatal shooting of a Chinese sparked Friday's anti-American riots in Formosa, is shown with his wife, and daughter Shirley, as they arrived in Honolulu enroute to the U. S. mainland. Reynolds, as he did earlier in Taipei and Manila, declined all comment on his court martial or on the incident which reportedly led to it.

Anti-American Riots 'Definitely Organized'

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — U. S. officials said today the anti-American riots in Taipei were "definitely organized," possibly by political forces anxious to make a deal with the Chinese Communists.

Communists throughout Asia seized on the riots in an all out effort to discredit American activities in the Far East. A threat of new anti-American riots in Manila caused the U. S. Embassy there today to order precautions.

The Americans said they believed no top government officials had any part in the widespread destruction of Friday but they did blame inaction by the government on the completeness of the destruction.

Foreign Minister George Yeh told a news conference today that no government agency or political organization had directed or instituted the riots.

American officials placed some of their suspicion on the deliberate attack on the embassy code room—an attack which compromised some of the codes used by the embassy.

The demonstrators entered the embassy armed with heavy tools and set to work on a heavy iron door guarding the code room. When they failed to make a dent they began digging through the six-inch concrete wall.

Ordinary demonstrators inflamed by some momentary anger probably would have passed on to some easier target, the American officials said.

'Readjust' Codes

U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin said the coderoom destruction will mean some "readjustment" of American codes. He would not elaborate.

Yeh told a news conference the riots were "not an expression of general anti-American feeling" of the Chinese people and said the government was not considering withdrawal of the diplomatic immunity now granted U.S. military personnel here.

Yeh also denied any "intentional delay" in sending policemen to protect the U.S. embassy which was wrecked by rioters and said the police force in Taipei was small and that all reserves were dispatched to the scene as quickly as possible. News dispatches at the time said police took no action when the rioters were destroying the American property.

Does not Believe Russia Will Attack

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former Rep. James P. Richards, President Eisenhower's special Middle East ambassador, said today he is convinced Russia "will not risk overt attack as long as we keep up our global defenses."

The South Carolina Democrat told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "this assurance has brought vast relief" to countries of the troubled Middle East," especially those on the borders of the Soviet bloc.

Announcer's Wife's Death Investigated

CHICAGO (UP) — An inquest was to be held today into the death of Mrs. Mary Beatty, 47, wife of Morgan Beatty, National Broadcasting Company radio and television news commentator.

Mrs. Beatty died Sunday at Henrotin Hospital. She had been hospitalized Friday of what her physician, Dr. William D. Jack, said apparently was an accidental overdose of medicine.

Sen. Theodore Green

Senator Green Becomes Oldest In U. S. Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Theodore Francis Green, still spry at 89-plus, becomes the oldest man ever to serve in Congress this week.

To settle disagreements over the exact date he has chosen Thursday, May 30, as the day his title becomes clear and unassailable.

"The experts couldn't agree," he said, on whether the history-making day would fall Sunday, today or Tuesday.

"So I decided not to side with any of them." Green told the United Press. "I have chosen May 30, so there won't be any doubt. Besides, it's Memorial Day; that's a nice day."

Congressional researchers have had their heads in musty records for months to clear up once and for all the "oldest congressman" title.

Green, a bachelor became the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate on June 17 of last year. He was then 88 years, 5 months and 15 days old.

At that time the record for both Houses was thought to have been held by the late Rep. Robert L. Doughton (D-N.C.), who was 89 years, 50½ days old when he retired from the House in 1953.

However a vigilant congressional researcher, Winant Ellmore, turned up with evidence that another North Carolina Democrat, Rep. Charles M. Stedman, died in office in 1930 at the age of 89 years, 7 months and 25 days.

Ellmore figured Green, born Oct. 2, 1867, would pass that record Tuesday. Others figured the date as today. One expert computed it to fall Sunday.

"There are so many ways to figure it I don't know," Green said.

Supreme Court Rules Against Judge Slayer

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state Supreme Court today upheld the death sentence imposed on Norman W. Moon for the 1954 courtroom slaying of Warren County Judge Allison D. Wade.

In an opinion written by Justice John C. Arnold, the court ruled that it had "reviewed both the law and the evidence and have determined that all the ingredients necessary to constitute murder in the first degree have been proved to exist."

Justice Michael A. Musmanno dissented.

Moon, a Connellsville electrician, was found guilty of first degree murder in the same courtroom where he shot and killed Judge Wade in May, 1954 by a jury without recommendation of mercy.

He had been brought into court Jan. 13, 1954, on an order to pay back support amounting to $1,500 to his estranged wife. He pulled a pistol and shot Wade twice, despite the jurist's statement that he was not going to send Moon to jail.

Refused Payment

In the high court ruling Arnold pointed out that Moon had obtained the money to make the support payment.

"But he refused to pay it and instead murdered the judge, who was about to order him to do so," Arnold said. "The defendant had a night's sleep after he had purchased the gun and shells and obtained the $1,500. As long as we are to have the death penalty in Pennsylvania, certainly this is a clear case for its imposition."

The court rejected the defendant's contention that photographs of Wade's body at the trial constituted "inflammatory or prejudicial" material. It also refused to entertain complaints that the defense had not been allowed to show bias on the part of a witness and upheld Warren County Court's instructions to the jury on the question of Moon's alleged insanity.

"There was no prejudicial error in the court's charge on the question of insanity, although much is attempted to be made of the self-inflicted wounds of the defendant," the court added.

Moon shot himself in the neck after he sped from the courtroom and fled in his automobile following the shooting.

A sanity commission later found him mentally ill and recommended he be committed to an institution. But the state Supreme Court last October upheld a lower court ruling that Moon was legally sane and could be sentenced to death for the Wade slaying.

National League To Vote Tomorrow On Club Shifting

NEW YORK (UP)—A three-club shift which would send the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, the New York Giants to San Francisco and transfer the Cincinnati Redlegs to New York will be proposed at Tuesday's National League meeting in Chicago, it was learned today.

Contracts covering such matters as television and broadcasting rights for the three clubs in their new sites already have been drawn up and approved.

It also was understood that proof will be submitted at the meeting guaranteeing the type of new parks which the Dodgers and Giants desire in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The shifts, if approved by the National League, would become effective for the 1958 season.

An authoritative baseball source told the United Press that he had seen all the papers which already have been drawn up and approved by the three clubs.

It would take a unanimous vote by the eight National League club owners to bring about the shifts.

When National League President Warren Giles last week called for Tuesday's meeting, he refused to discuss the agenda for the session. He merely said the meeting was being held in Chicago Tuesday rather than before the annual league all-star game at St. Louis on July 9.

Library Board to Honor Mrs. Ashe

The Monessen Public Library will close at 5:30 this afternoon to permit the staff to attend a farewell dinner by the board of directors for Mrs. Margaret Ashe, acting librarian who has resigned to move to Washington, D. C. Her resignation will be effective Friday.

Friday will also mark the beginning of regular summer hours for the library. During June, July and August it will be open from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Monday through Friday, and closed on Saturdays.

Off-delayed Atomic Tests on Tomorrow

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic Energy Commission scientists hoped today that 13 would be their lucky number for the start of the often-delayed spring-summer series of A-tests at the Nevada test site.

The latest attempt to test one of two relatively small nuclear devices, scheduled at 4:30 a.m. (c.s.t.) 5:30 a. m. (c.d.s.t.) today was called off for 24 hours Saturday night for the 12th consecutive time because of wind conditions.

The No. 13 was rescheduled for Tuesday morning at the same time.

Cold in Colorado

NEW YORK (UP)—The temperature dropped below freezing today in 25 degrees for the nation's coldest reading, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported. The hottest mark Sunday was 103 degrees at Yuma, Ariz.

Woman Admits Killing Husband

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Pleasant Hills woman who admitted killing her husband with two shotgun blasts because "he had a woman in every port" was in a secret cell in Allegheny County jail today.

Mrs. Mildred Duncan, 33, called police Saturday night shortly after she killed her husband, Gene, 32, a pilot, in a climax to a five-hour argument in their home.

Gunsmoke was still evident when police arrived at the Duncan home. Mrs. Duncan told Detective Henry Pieper her husband was "no better than any sailor—he had a woman in every port."

The Duncans' daughters, Charlene, 7, and Daphne, 5, slept through the quarrel and shooting.

Webster Girl Hit by Auto

A seven year old Webster girl was injured when she apparently dashed in front of an automobile on Route 906 near the Holy Cross Church shortly after noon today.

Patty Paradise, who made her first Holy Communion yesterday, was rushed to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. She was admitted for observation, according to a hospital spokesman.

State Police said no other details of the accident were available. According to witnesses, the driver stopped and rendered assistance.

The girl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Paradise, of Webster.

Four Accidents On Local Streets; No One Injured

No one was reported injured in four accidents on Monessen streets over the weekend, police revealed today.

A runaway car owned by Jack Bergstein, of 1341 Leeds Ave., Monessen, yesterday struck a utility pole and ran across a lawn and into a garage on the property of Michael Pehote, of 1076 Dennis Ave. The car was unoccupied at the time.

Two cars were damaged when they sideswiped on Rostraver St. last night about 10 o'clock. Drivers involved were Orlando Reginelli, of S Elm St., and Frank Hornak, of 1240 Rostraver St. Neither driver would assume responsibility, police reports showed.

Police are on the lookout for the driver of the hit-run car which struck a parked car belonging to Arvin Miller, of 1227 Morgan Ave. near 11th St. early yesterday morning. Police believe they have the license number of the hit-run.

Slight damage resulted about 1:15 yesterday morning when a parked car owned by Henry Miller, of 1214 Schoonmaker Ave., was struck by a car operated by Billy L. Smith, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Announce Plans for Page 'Open House'

The Monessen Page plant of American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., will hold "open house" on Tuesday, June 4.

At 6:30 p. m. the same day, the Monessen Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner in honor of Cyrus N. Johns, president of ACCO and a former general manager of the local plant. The Chamber has designated June 4 as "Cy Johns Day".

The inspection tour will begin with a short ceremony at the plant entrance at which City, Chamber, United Steelworkers and company officials will participate.

Visitors can inspect the plant anytime between 9 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Due to operating requirements, no one will be admitted to the mill after 2:30 p. m. The tour will last about 1½ hours.

No one under 12 years of age will be admitted unless accompanied by an adult.

Parking space will be available adjacent to the plant on River St. and in the mill parking lot. These areas can be reached by driving through the River St. underpass. However, because parking space is limited it is suggested that motorists park in town and walk to the plant entrance.

Products of many of the divisions of ACCO will be on display both in the plant and the following business establishments: Melon Bank, First Federal Savings & Loan Association, Monessen Hardware, Mon Valley Wallpaper, Monessen Plumbing and Electric, Rosenson Furniture, Stern's Furniture, Check's Furniture, Krasnick's Furniture, Monessen Radio & TV, Sivak's Hardware, Derry Construction, Haury Hardware, G. Dwayne Koget, 22, of 969 Donner Ave., Monessen, and a cousin, Stephen Koget, 22, of Sutersville were injured about 3:50 this morning when their car went off the road and struck a tree, State Police reported.

Koget and his companion were treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and released.

Congress Is Threatened With New Postal Cuts

Summerfield Says He'll Need More Funds Next Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—Postmaster General Arthur E Summerfield confronted Congress today with new threats of a massive shutdown of postal services unless it meets his demands for more funds.

Summerfield said that if Congress does not provide 140 million dollars in additional funds "we probably have to close hundreds of not thousands of small post offices throughout the country" as well as cutback other mail services.

The Senate and House knocked 8 million dollars out of the Post Office Department's budget for next fiscal year to show they "meant business" on the economy drive.

But the postal chief said that from accepting such a cut, his department will need 140 million dollars more just to maintain present services.

'In Few Days'

Summerfield said Sunday on a television program that he would request the sum "in a few days."

He warned at the time the cuts were made that he would have to curtail postal services July 1 unless the reductions were restored or another 70 million to 90 million dollars appropriated.

Even if Congress restored the 8 million dollars, he said Sunday, it "will not be enough for us to maintain present mail service in 1958."

Summerfield also said if the funds are not forthcoming, "it will probably mean the elimination of all Saturday deliveries completely."

He blamed the need for extra appropriation on the growth of the nation's economy and increases in the use of mail.

Second Worst Accident Takes The Lives of 11

BENSON, Ill. (UP)—Authorities today sought witnesses to the second worst traffic wreck in U.S. history which claimed 11 lives and wiped out two families.

Killed in the flaming crash Saturday night were the six-member James Block family of Streator, Ill., and the five-member Dr. George Van Steenberg family of Bloomington. Seven of the victims were children.

State police said the cause of the high speed accident had not been determined.

One witness, Mrs. John Wagner, wife of a nearby farm owner, said the Block car swerved into a culvert then exploded in flames when it hit a tree wrapping two adults and four children in red hot steel. The Van Steenberg car ripped into a utility pole and was demolished.

Mrs. Wagner said she saw the crash as she turned into the farm lane, but was too far away to see what caused it.

Dead were James Block, 28, his wife, Verna Mae, 24; their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Debra, and James Jr., 3 months; Dr. George Van Steenberg, 37, a dentist, his wife, Helen Nancy, 33, and their children, George Dennis, Janice, 4, and Julia, 3.

The National Safety Council said the records indicated the accident was the second worst in the nation in the number of victims in a two-car crash. The council said the worst such collision was one at Anoka, Minn., in 1940 in which 13 persons were killed.

Twice-indicted Hoffa May Seek Beck's Job

WASHINGTON (UP)—A pitched battle for the throne of the giant Teamsters Union seemed likely today if James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa seeks the presidency soon to be vacated by Dave Beck.

Beck, under fire on charges of having used International Brotherhood of Teamster funds to enrich himself and his family, announced Saturday he would not run for re-election to another five-year term next September.

Teamster sources said they would not be surprised" if the dapper Hoffa, ninth vice president of the union in Detroit decides to try for the top spot.

However, the 5-foot, 5-inch Hoffa is under two federal indictments and can be expected to meet opposition within the giant labor organization.

The United Press learned that Beck met secretly in Seattle Saturday with Hoffa, Einar Mohn, Beck's executive assistant, and Teamster Vice President Frank Brewster before announcing his decision.

AFL-CIO Secretary - Treasurer William Schnitzler said Sunday that the decision indicated Beck realized he had no chance of remaining as head of the Teamsters. Schnitzler said Beck is finished as far as the American labor movement is concerned.

There have been reports that the Teamsters executive board might make an attempt at its next meeting to oust Beck and that his action was to forestall such action.

Sources close to the union here, however, said they doubted published reports that Beck offered at the Seattle meeting Sunday to resign immediately if Mohn was named his successor. These reports said Hoffa announced privately that he would be a candidate after Beck's proposal was rejected.

Mohn is under indictment for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions before the predecessor committee of the Senate Rackets Committee.

Hoffa has been indicted for allegedly attempting to plant an informer on the Senate Rackets committee and is scheduled to go on trial here June 17. He also is under indictment for wiretapping in Detroit.

No Danger of 'Pollution' from Atomic Plants

WASHINGTON (UP)—An atomic energy expert said today that "undesirable" radioactive materials inevitably result from nuclear explosions but that a "great many" atomic power plants can be operated normally without danger of radioactive "pollution."

Dr. Charles L. Dunham, the AEC's medical director, testified at the opening round of hearings by a special atomic energy subcommittee which are aimed at clearing up some of the worldwide controversy over the dangers of radioactive fallout."

Dunham did not mention the controversy directly, but did discuss the "undesirable . . . pollution" which inevitably results from nuclear explosions.

"To say that we will tolerate no increase in exposure to radiation," he said, "is equivalent to saying that we will make no use of nuclear energy."

The problem, he said, is to set standards and "balance the undesirability of further increase in the quantity of radiation to which we are subject against the benefits to be anticipated from whatever application of nuclear energy we are considering."

Dunham said it is "one of the basic facts of life" that attaining any objective invariably requires the "surrender of something else."

Two More Face Macing Charges

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two more defendants in the 1954 primary election state payroll macing investigation went on trial before Judge Samuel A. Weiss today.

The defendants, Harold Gensel, Berwick, Pa., and Ross Hill, Apollo, Pa., were charged with macing and conspiracy in alleged efforts to force state employes to contribute one per cent of their salaries to a Republican campaign fund.

Gensel, former director of the investigation bureau of the state Department of Labor and Industry, and Hill, former administrative assistant in the department's Pittsburgh office were among 15 former state officials indicted as a result of an Allegheny County investigation three years go.

Court attaches anticipated similar action in the trial of Gensel and Hill.

State Budget Vote Expected Wednesday

HARRISBURG (UP)—The battle over the budget is ended in the General Assembly today, as in the case of a woman lecturer who made up her mind to make no more mistakes in the face of shouting criticism.

The GOP plan to slash $91,500,000 from Gov. George M. Leader's proposed budget appeared assured of passage after a bitter all-night session and comfortable majorities for a final vote on the appropriations bills in the House of Representatives.

GOP floor leaders called for a roll call vote today on bills totaling $1,800,000 for Wednesday. A bitter fight was expected with Democratic minority leaders trying a raft of amendments to restore all of the cuts proposed in various state agencies.

But Senate Majority Leader Jay Cooper, a staunch GOP supporter, said he hoped to hold the budget intact and get it on the governor's desk by Wednesday night.

Cooper said the GOP plan to slash the budget was made in the interest of economy and to avoid increasing taxes.

"We have taken a hard look at the budget requests and have cut out many programs," the governor's budget were made in the amounts he requested for salaries and expenses all through the departments."

Meanwhile, social welfare groups planned a meeting today to protest the proposed 27 million dollar cut in Welfare Department appropriations.

"The governor is callously trying to mislead the people into believing $1 million dollars has been taken away from mental health, education and other humane programs," Bloom said. "As a matter of fact, the biggest reductions in the governor's budget were made reckless and cold-blooded crippling of essential state services dictated by a handful of Republican leaders."

GOP Defends Program

From the other side, Republican State Chairman George F. Bloom charged that payroll cuts and not reductions in state services were behind the governor's objections to reductions in the administration budget.

Bloom said if the Legislature had gone along on the recommendations submitted by Leader the lawmakers would have had to enact 100 million dollars in additional taxes.

STUDENTS RIOT, EXPELLED AT BOWLING GREEN — Students at Bowling Green O. university wield a captured fire hose against firemen during a riot on the campus. Some 2,000 students were involved in the riot, which included building a bon fire, burning the school president in effigy and blocking traffic. Twelve students were expelled. The fracas started as a protest against discipline over a "no liquor" rule.

American Family Diets Are Often Lacking In Nutrition

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Americans aren't getting as much good as they should out of their abundant food supply.

The ironic fact that the nutritional content of family diets is going slightly downhill at a time when Uncle Sam is struggling with food surpluses has diet experts searching for new ways to sell the A-B-C's of good eating.

Some leading nutritionists met here at a recent nation-wide conference to compare notes on the problem. They were armed with stacks of figures from a new Agriculture Department survey.

The study shows, among other things, that 10 per cent of American family diets are actually "substandard" and many more are well below desired levels in some basic food nutrient counts.

A new campaign to "sell" nutrition is the dietician's answer. They concede they're up against such things as long-term eating patterns, stiff competition for the family food dollar, and diet fads and food pills.

States Problem Simply

Dr Faith Clark, chief of the food consumption section of the Agriculture Department's household economics research division, states the problem simply.

She cities figures which show the average American family spent three times more on food in 1955 than in 1948. Food prices, however, rose only 7 per cent during the period to account for only a small part of the increase.

Her figures show that family rations of calcium and ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) actually lost ground. Vitamin A allowances remained unchanged, and protein and other basic minerals and nutrients showed only slight gains.

Dr. Clark concludes that most of the additional food money was spent on more expensive, not more nutritious, foods.

Other figures show that about 29 per cent of family diets are not up to national research council goals for calcium; 25 per cent were under the ascorbic acid goal; from 15 to 20 were behind in Vitamin A and about 10 per cent lagging in supplies of protein.

Milk is the prime source of calcium. Meats, fish and eggs are major sources of protein. Dark green and yellow vegetables are rich in Vitamin A. And citrus fruits are leading sources of ascorbic acid.

Dr. Clark is quick to point out the figures do not mean the nation is suffering from malnutrition. Far from it, American diets as a whole, she notes have shown "considerable improvement" since the last large-scale diet survey in 1936.

Then, one-third of American diets were classed as "poor." Today only 10 per cent would fall in that category.

But Dr. Clark said most of the improvement occurred between the mid-thirties and 1948, the early post-war period. There has been little gain since.

Dr Miriam E Lowenberg head of the foods and nutrition department of the College of Home Economics, Pennsylvania State University, called attention at the recent conference to one population group whose nutrition needs are highly important — pregnant women.

Dr Lowenberg said she feared that nutritionists and doctors are missing "opportunities" to fully exploit nutrition needs at the "teachable moment" when a husband and wife are having their first baby. She said at no time are men and women so "amenable to nutrition education."

Dr. Lowenberg quoted figures showing premature births ranking second as a cause of infant deaths. Prematurity, she said, is attributed to a combination of factors, including nutrition.

Dr. Ercel Eppright, head of the food and nutrition department, home economics division, Iowa State College addressed herself to another problem group, teenagers. Teen-age diets, she said, offer a "serious problem," especially the diets of teen-age girls.

For some girls, she said, the word "health" may have "undesirable connotations, as being buxom or large."

Dr Eppright said the fault with teen-age diets lies directly with parents as well as teachers. "Parents too often do not practice what they preach' and 'health classes are notably dull."

Death Toll at 50 In Turkey Quakes

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP)—Rescue workers today found 40 more bodies in nine rubble strewn Turkish villages today, bringing the death toll from the Sunday earthquakes to 50.

The quake hit hardest at the village of Bolu in northwest Turkey where residents panicked when a mosque was toppled. It was felt here, in Ankara and other cities. Several hundred homes were destroyed.

Ike to Establish Dairy Cattle Herd

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that he has future plans for establishing a herd of dairy cattle on his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The President now has a few dairy cattle but raises mostly black angus beef cattle at the farm.

Eisenhower discussed dairying briefly with Barbara Jean Bossus of Brainerd, Minn., dairy princess of Minnesota, for this year.

Egypt Ready to Submit Israeli Problem to UN

By UNITED PRESS

Israel received reports from the United Nations today that Egypt is willing to submit the question of Israeli passage through the Suez Canal to international arbitration.

But the reports said Egypt would attach a number of conditions—including a promise that such actions would not amount to recognizing Israel and would not prejudice Egypt's position.

The reports said the conditonal acceptance of arbitration was given to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in New York by Egyptian delegate Omar Loufti.

Israel has announced repeatedly it would send a ship to the canal to test the Egyptian blockade and force a showdown in hope world opinion would force Egypt to open the canal to all nations.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban disclosed Sunday in Washington the United States and Israel are now engaged in "most intimate talks" concerning steps to assure Israel are now engaged in "most intimate talks" concerning steps to assure Israeli ships free passage.

Eban said if Egypt blocks Israeli ships the United States should exert "at least a stronger pressure" on that nation than it used on Israel to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Eban made the statement in an interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) for use over upstate New York stations.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion meanwhile went before the Knesset (parliament) today to try to avert a political crisis that could send the Israeli economy into a nosedive.

The 71-year-old premier hoped to force the left-wing rebels in his government coalition to abstain in Wednesday's vote on Israel's acceptance of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Should the two labor parties Mapam and Ahdut Avoda, vote against the government Ben-Gurion would be forced to kick them out of the government.

Such an action would be certain to unleash a storm of demands for wage increases, backed by strikes which many Israeli officials felt the nation could not afford.

Inmate Has Own Air-mail System; Uses Rubber Ball

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — An inmate at Eastern State Penitentiary figured out an air-mail delivery system all his own Sunday to send "love and kisses" to his family.

Jeffrey Curry, 21, serving a two to five year term for burglary, wrote his message on a pink rubber ball and pitched it over a prison wall. It was found by Marie Mazur, 11, who delivered it to Curry's wife, Louise.

Marie was walking to church with her parents when the missile sailed over the wall and bounced in the street in front of her. On it Curry had written:

Please, sir or miss, if this ball gets over the wall, will you please give it to my son, Jeffrey Curry, address 1700 W. Master St., and ask for Louise" Thank you very much."

On another part of the ball Curry wrote: "Love and kisses."

Marie, accompanied by her father, delivered the unique love note to Mrs. Curry in her second floor apartment. She burst into tears. Mrs. Curry said it apparently was her husband's way of letting his two sons know "their daddy still loves and misses them."

One son, Jeffrey Jr., is 16 months old. The other, Anthony, was born after Curry was imprisoned last February. He has seen the infant only once.

Parasites Hit State Livestock

By UNITED PRESS

Livestock parasites are cutting down on Pennsylvania farmers' profits, according to Penn State extension veterinary specialists. They explained that the pests are lowering the resistance of livestock, making them easy prey to infectious diseases.

Parasites may damage the animals' skin, the intestinal walls and mucous membranes, opening the way for infections to enter. Loss of blood and failure to use feed efficiently also weakens livestock in their fight against germs and viruses.

The veterinary specialists listed a number of diseases that may develop after parasite infestations. Pneumonia can follow damage by lung worms in sheep. The parasites block portions of the lung, helping to bring on the disease.

Black disease may strike sheep when immature flukes penetrate the liver. Peritonitis in pigs is often caused by thornhead worms penetrating intestinal walls. Almost all animals infested by parasites suffer from anemia.

The Penn State specialists suggested that farmers follow a continuous program to combat animal parasites and check with veternarians for diagnosis and education.

Hay

Ordinary hay can win a little fame and fortune in the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg this coming January.

A Pennsylvania State University agronomist said there will be five district hay shows in Pennsylvania this year. Those farmers who win first or second place in their district will be eligible to exhibit the hay at the Harrisburg show.

The first district show will be at Hershey on Aug. 22, 23, and 24th.

The dates for the other hay shows are, for Central Pennsylvania, Oct. 1, Southwestern, Oct 8, Northwestern, Oct. 10, and Northeastern, Oct. 24.

Hay to be exhibited should be baled about five inches thick.

Bagworms

A Pennsylvania State University entomologist said trees and shrubs infested with bagworms should be sprayed between June 10th to 20th with either arsenate or malathion mixed with water.

The specialist warned that insecticides are relatively ineffective if the pests are allowed to grow. He said the worms are still in the bag stage on small shrubs early in the season and can be better controlled.

U. S., British Exchange Pleasantries

By WILLIAM SEXTON

LONDON (UP) — The United States is "brainless." Britain is one big "psychological case." America is filled with "trigger-happy cops." Britons care only about their cricket.

Another Anglo-American dispute over Suez? No, just one week's choicer symptoms of Britain's own special spring fever.

The Americans will soon be here.

It happens every spring. The prospect of the annual tourist invasion sets off all kinds of soul-searching. This year the temperature is higher than usual.

British newsmen are slandering the American way of life — and offering advice to American visitors. American newsmen are punching back in kind.

Rene MacColl, Washington correspondent of the London Daily Express, admittedly irked because Americans pronounced his name "Reen" instead of the continental - style "Re-nay," started the 1957 outbreak with a glad-to-go dispatch firmed off just before his return to Britain.

Has Brainless Tendency

America, he said, is a "great swarming ant-heap of a country with a tendency to be "brainless." He was glad to "get away from the jumbo swirl of riches...away from the careless gun-play of trigger - happy cops, millions of 'tranquilizer' pills (and) psychiatry run riot."

Arthur Vesey, London correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, headed home on leave, wrote a dispatch for his paper which the Daily Express carried in full.

"America is top dog now and they (the British) can't accept the change," he said. "Yet they realize Britain seems doomed to live as a satellite of the United States, so, face to face, they try to be polite. But when they think they are alone, or when their self-control is gone, they are as a catty, as bitter, as unfair, as sour, as cruel as a proverbial movie star whose day is done..."

"There are a couple of million Englishmen it would be a pleasure never to see again...as a group they are becoming a psychological case."

Andrew Tully of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance answered his "old friend" Rene on the latter's criticism of American cooking. "Now really, Rene, nationalism has its decent limits. Not only is English cooking the worst in the world, but most Englishmen boast of this awful distinction as a proof of the Englishman's indestructibility."

Drew Middleton, London correspondent of the New York Times, cautioned Europe - bound Americans that in Britain "the natives are in an odd mood."

Whereupon "Cassandra," who is really William Connor, picked up his razor-sharp pen and wrote in the mass-circulation London Daily Mirror, "Memo to the citizens of the U.S.:

Eisenhower Still Effective Leader

THOSE observers of national politics who have been predicting a decline in the prestige and influence of President Eisenhower because of the constitutional limitation on his term of office seem to us to have been counting their chickens before they were hatched. For the political activity at the White House in the past week or ten days suggests that these observers could be very wrong.

Mr. Eisenhower is not the type of leader who pushes people around, even where his authority is sufficient to enable him to do so with impunity. He much prefers to lead by example and persuasion while giving his associates as much latitude as possible.

But in spite of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower has had some spectacular success with these subtle methods of leadership both in war and in politics, some people seem to interpret the President's subtlety as weakness.

Among those who have been making this mistake in recent weeks have been some newspaper commentators and some conservative Republican politicians. Some Democrats in Washington have also been talking about Mr. Eisenhower's "weakness" and "failures" of leadership, but we suspect they know better.

* * *

AT ANY RATE, it has become clear in recent days that Mr. Eisenhower is not ready for the rocking chair at Gettysburg, and any politicians who still think he is cannot be in very close touch with public opinion.

The President's two speeches to the nation on the subject of the budget, particularly the one dealing with the question of foreign aid and mutual security, have already taken a lot of the punch out of the congressional economy drive. They were effective because of what they said and because it was Dwight D. Eisenhower who was saying it.

Then there were the messages which Mr. Eisenhower and his assistant, Sherman Adams, delivered to the Republican regional meeting in New Jersey. Mr. Eisenhower speaking by telephone and Mr. Adams speaking very much in person gave the party's leaders both in Congress and throughout the country a lot of meat to get their teeth into.

The Adams speech appealed to us as especially good, may be because we happen to like the New England habit of using as few words as possible to say as much as possible. Mr. Adams listed the various kinds of Republicans in circulation these days: "the stalwarts, the irreconciled and the irreconcilables. . . the liberals, the liberal-conservatives, the conservative-progressives, the plain and simple conservaties and the reactionaries."

But Mr. Adams went on to say that if the Republican party is to mean anything from here on — or even to survive — at some point those who call themselves Republicans have got to agree on a basic set of principles and then follow the policies and leadership which are giving effect to those principles.

"To me it is inconceivable," he said, "that loyal Republicanism can be twisted to mean persistent and carping opposition to our party's leader and our party's platform. If that should be the course — inconceivable though it is — then earnestly I say this to you. Our party will be foredoomed at the polls."

* * *

Now to this interesting series of statements, add the final one which President Eisenhower made over the weekend, to the effect that he intends, in 1960, to exercise at least a "veto" over the choice of the Republican candidate for President, a "veto" which he would assert by refusing to campaign for a candidate whose views, particularly on foreign policy, he could not conscientiously support.

Is this the kind of talk you get from a political leader who has come to the end of his term? Well hardly.

A Stimulant

If YOU'VE had trouble justifying that extra cup of coffee, we can help you.

Maybe it isn't a widely known fact, but the Monessen and Donora export steel mill products to Latin American countries. The commodity which makes most of this trade possible is coffee.

Coffee sales to the United States provide the coffee-producing countries of Latin America with 42 per cent of all the money earned by those countries for U. S. products. Total exports from Pennsylvania alone amounted to $223 million, including those from Donora and Monessen. The total represents employment for 31,550 persons.

We gleaned this information from a booklet issued by the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, trade organization of the coffee producers. We would they hoped we would print something like this.

Coffee is by all odds the favorite U. S. beverage. It is served in 96 per cent of all eating places. Since [illegible] coffee drinkers. We think of course. We just realize that one way to help [illegible] of the Monongahela Valley [illegible] Water and Point [illegible]

Merry-Go-Round—

Many Anxious For Humphrey To Leave Soon

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It isn't being talked about for quotation but some members of the President's official family are heaving a big sigh of relief at the exit of the most powerful member of the Cabinet, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. There are three reasons for their sighs:

Mr. Pearson

1. It was Humphrey with his statement about the budget causing a depression that "will make your hair curl" who started all of Ike's present budget troubles. No president in recent years has had so much trouble so soon after a sweeping electoral victory as that stirred up by Humphrey over the budget.

2. Humphrey's tight money policy has raised interest rates so high that the government has trouble floating its own bonds. Though hailed as a master financier, Humphrey has permitted the Treasury to degenerate to a point where it is now offering government bonds at the highest rate in modern American history.

3. Democratic Congressmen have been considering the possibility of starting impeachment proceedings against Humphrey on the charge that he has one of the greatest conflicts of interest in government.

Congressman James Roosevelt of California revealed something of this over the week end when he described Humphrey as "a very potentially dangerous influence."

"I think if something isn't done about it, and the country isn't told about it," continued Roosevelt, "we may have a repetition of what we had under Andrew Mellon."

"In the form of a depression?" Roosevelt was asked.

"Exactly," was the reply.

Humphrey's Conflicts

Asked for specific examples of Secretary Humphrey's errors, Roosevelt pointed out that Humphrey had refused to sell his stock in the giant M. A. Hanna Co. Roosevelt then cited a nickel contract signed by Humphrey's son in Oregon just a few days before his father took the oath as Secretary of the Treasury, by which contract the government built a plant with the taxpayers' money, then turned it over absolutely free to the Hanna Company.

"They were guaranteed a profit. They took no risk, and yet a few days later this individual became Secretary of the Treasury," said the Congressman from California.

He also cited the Arabian-American Oil Company, owned in part by Standard Oil of New Jersey which in turn is partly owned by Humphrey's firm.

"That company, Aramco, used to pay taxes in the United States," said Roosevelt. "Then it worked out a phony deal with the King of Saudi Arabia whereby instead of royalties to him, they pay taxes to him. And now whereas this company used to pay millions of dollars in taxes to the United States Government in recent years it hasn't paid a penny in taxes. The King of Saudi Arabia is getting it, and the taxpayer of the United States is being defrauded."

"Did Mr. Humphrey OK that arrangement?" Roosevelt was asked.

"Not only did he OK it, it was devised in the Treasury Department which he heads," replied Roosevelt.

Humphrey's Competitor

"Another case is that of his great competitor, Cyrus Eaton," continued Roosevelt. "Both he and Humphrey own properties up in Canada. But in that case, the Treasury sued Cyrus Eaton's company for $2,000,000 in back taxes. And despite the protests from Canada that this was double taxation, the Treasury insisted on pushing through the suit.

"It is interesting to note that the Tax Court of Appeals threw it out and reversed Secretary Humphrey.

"This exposed a direct competitor of his," concluded Roosevelt. "In other words, there's one law for the friends of the Secretary of the Treasury and a different law for his competitors."

Mr. Nixon Risks His Future

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There is more than meets the eye in Vice President Nixon's all-out advocacy of the Eisenhower budget which most other Republicans in Congress are trying to slash.

It would rightly cause a raising of eyebrows if Mr. Nixon were ducking for cover by giving only perfunctory support to the White House now that the President's policies have suddenly become unpopular with his own party.

Mr. Drummond

But the significant fact is that the Vice President, far from running to cover, is joining the fray energetically and unreservedly on Mr. Eisenhower's side and against the advice of some of his playit-safe political friends.

What is evident, from his vigorous, don't-hack-the-budget, don't-toy-with-the-peach speech before the Iron and Steel Institute in New York, is that Mr. Nixon does not intend to play it safe, does not intend to play it cozy, is prepared to see his political star rise or fall fighting for President Eisenhower's "Modern Republicanism" all the way.

In view of the fact that Mr. Nixon's future is still ahead of him—a future which holds the prospect of the Republican Presidential nomination in 1960 — there are very large consequences which can flow from the kind of all-modern Republican speech he has just delivered.

Risking Future

It is not too much to say that this speech and the other recent speeches which have led up to it, mean:

That Mr. Nixon is risking his political future — and the 1960 nomination — on a firm commitment to continue and, if anything, expand, the "Modern Republican" policies of President Eisenhower.

That he is not going to seek the 1960 nomination by simultaneously pleasing the Republican conservatives and bowing pleasantly to the Republican liberals.

That he is knowingly displeasing many of his conservative friends and supporters because he believes unreservedly that the President's policies are right and imperatively necessary and that the Republicans and Democrats who are opposing the President are wrong — and will be so proved as time goes on.

Mr. Nixon's commitment to the Eisenhower budget and the Eisenhower program does not rest merely upon his latest and strongest speech. This speech is merely the climax of earlier actions. Furthermore, he has not been picking the easy places to speak. He didn't confine himself to polite greetings when he appeared before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce which had been lambasting the President's budget for weeks.

He has been speaking where it would do the most good and recently has been meeting privately with business leaders to do "Missionary work" which wins some agreement but often leaves his friends shaking their heads and asking, "What's happened to Dick?"

Widening Gap

The Vice President is perfectly aware that he is walking headlong into the very strategy which his principal rival, Sen. William Knowland of California, thinks most likely will bring him, Mr. Knowland, the 1960 nomination. This is the way it shapes up:

Sen. Knowland is widening the policy gap between himself and President Eisenhower. His supporters will commend him to the next Republican national convention because of his differences with Mr. Eisenhower.

Vice President Nixon is closing the gap — if any gap ever existed between himself and President Eisenhower. He is committing himself to the proposition that the next Republican national convention will want to nominate him only if it wants to continue the liberal leadership of Mr. Eisenhower.

My impression is that Mr. Nixon is perfectly willing, indeed, welcomes, having this comparison and having the choice of the 1960 nominee hinge upon this alternative — more of the Eisenhower brand of Republicanism versus a shift in the opposite direction.

Temporarily the political winds are blowing the other way. But Mr. Nixon is aware that not since the depression — not once in six Presidential elections — has the Republican party turned to its right wing for its nominee.

The Peoples Forum—

Lee Defended Again

To the Editor:

Your criticism of Robert E. Lee as presented in the "Notes and Comments" column, "Lee Was a Turncoat, Not a Great Patriot" (May 18) is certainly unjustifiable and unfair.

I would without hesitation classify Lee as one of the greatest Americans who ever lived. Our nation, all its citizens, the state of Virginia, and you and I have many reasons to be proud of Lee.

Robert inherited all the family tradition of military and public service. He served with valour and distinction in the Mexican War so that Gen. W. T. Scott had occasion to say that Lee was "the greatest military genius in America." After the war he was appointed superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point.

"I can anticipate no greater calamity for the country than the dissolution of the Union," Lee said. Then Lincoln offered him supreme command of the Union armies — the greatest honor a Union soldier could have.

But there was Virginia. Even more than he respected the Union, he loved his native state, that state in whose glorious history he and his family had had so glorious a part.

"And was a Union worth saving if it had to be saved by force?" Lee thought not. "Still a Union that can only be maintained by swords and bayonets, and in which strife and civil war are to take the place of brotherly love and kindness, has no charms for me."

And if he sought to force his beloved Virginia back into a Union in which she no longer wished to be he must be prepared to burn Virginia cities and kill, on the battlefield, friends and neighbors. He could not do it. Could you or I, Mr. Pore? No, I think not.

So the greatest military genius of the Civil War, and one of its noblest spirits was lost to the North and gained by the South.

Lee was one of the gentlest and noblest men who ever lived. He hated the Civil War but did not harbor ill-will against his enemies. When the war at last had run its horrible and tragic course Lee urged his men to be good citizens and strive to bring back friendship and peace.

Certainly Lee was a tragic figure, torn between devotion and duty, but Civil War breeds the deepest kind of tragedy and criticizing a man whom the united nation has grown to love and respect is not a good way to heal those horrible scars which still remain to remind us of that unhappy struggle.

I conclude my letter with these two thoughts:

1. Abraham Lincoln, the saviour of the Union, took an oath, as president at his inauguration to "preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States." Yet in his term he repeatedly suspended guaranteed liberties and assumed restricted powers. Lincoln broke his oath as surely as did Lee, yet would anyone condemn him for it?

2. It is true that Lee was a turncoat and a traitor, in a sense, although I agree with Marjorie Farr that "while any present day West Pointer who would choose to aid in a break from the Union would be guilty of treason, the situation in 1860 was vastly different," but we must remember that God does not sanction rebellion for any cause and in any form. (Romans 13:1-2) Washington was a traitor just as surely as was Lee. The situations and allegiance vary but the fact is there. Both were in rebellion against the established and lawful government.

Bill Wilson
122 Schoonmaker Ave.

P. S. Unlike Marjorie Farr I do have maternal ancestors who fought in the Revolution against England and with the federal armies in the Rebellion and I am proud of them both. But I am not biased to the point that I will not admit the unlawfulness of the Revolution on the true imperishable greatness of Robert E. Lee, "the Hero of Dixie."

Stassen Moving into Leading GOP Position

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The movement of Harold E. Stassen toward a new and important position within the Republican Party seems now to be an established fact. He has not reached it yet, but Stassen is moving.

The current issue of Newsweek relates that President Eisenhower's appointments secretary, Bernard M. Shanley, recently was discussing privately some of the Republican presidential possibilities for 1960. He mentioned several and added:

Mr. Wilson

"You would make a big mistake to underestimate Stassen's ability as a campaigner."

Political writers who buried Stassen last year after his flukey effort to prevent renomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon now are taking another look. Stassen still is a long way from a position which would enable him to make a substantial challenge for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. He has powerful political enemies including most conservative Republicans and, especially, the partisans of Vice President Nixon.

Present Job Helpful

Stassen's return from political obscurity, of course, must come about wholly from his job as United States disarmament negotiator. For some weeks now he has been receiving headline credit for some of the progress toward an armaments agreement with the Kremlin. There has not been much progress, but even a little has been enough to give Stassen much urgently needed good publicity.

Stassen suddenly has what the public relations experts call a good press. The New York rackets investigation of the mid-1930s created Thomas E. Dewey as a political figure. Television and an expose of links between local governments and gamblers lifted out of the crowd Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Disarmament is pie in the sky, rich, flaky and far out of reach. Any American whose name was substantially associated with bringing that pie within reach of the voters would become a great political figure in the United States. He would be hard to beat in a national convention or in an election.

Could Be Stassen

Stassen could be that American. The odds are against him, if for no other reason than that he is dealing with the Russians. He may not bring it off, probably won't. But these thoughts surely are running through Stassen's mind. He is a politician and he is ambitious, twice an aggressive candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, three times elected governor of Minnesota. He is now 50 years old.

The word in mid-winter was that Stassen hoped to run next year for governor of Pennsylvania. It was not possible at that time to detect much or any Republican enthusiasm in Pennsylvania for Stassen's project. If Stassen appeared next year, however, in the role of the architect of substantial world disarmament the enthusiasm of Pennsylvania Republicans might be considerable.

A Republican governor of Pennsylvania, of course, would have a respectable claim on the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. Considering his record, that seems to be what Stassen wants.

Stranger things have happened, although not often.

The Woman's View—

Opportunity Knocks For Nimble Woman

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Business opportunity still knocks for the woman nimble with the thimble or creative in the culinary arts.

It also is there for the woman with other home-making skill or an unusual idea for a business service, reports the New York state Department of Commerce.

Gay Pauley

The department runs a unique counseling program for women who wish to turn their household skills into income, but aren't sure how to go about same. Its women's division was set up in 1945, originally to aid women returning from war jobs.

A Good Record

In the 12 years, its files have grown thick with success stories—such as the woman whose knack with doll costumes eventually was turned to design of children's clothes and a successful business. Or, the woman whose herb garden hobby was expanded and now includes herb farm, with greenhouse, highway salesroom, and a booming mail order business.

Now, the department has expanded its program with publication of a handbook called "Your Ideas Make Cents — And Dollars Too," available nationally as its mailing budget will allow.

"It is not as easy now as it was in 1915 to start a business at home," said Miss Barbara Yuncker, assistant deputy commissioner. "Then, there was a shortage of consumer goods . . . almost anything in a pretty package would sell. Today, women are faced with a buyer's market.

"But there still are plenty of fields open, if the woman has the talent.

"The crafts, for instance. Or fine needlework, for sale in boutique shops. Or, any needed service, such as baby-sitting, particularly in the small and medium-sized towns."

Numerous Kitchen Successes

The kitchen success stories also are numerous — women who sell everything from pickles to plum puddings. But she warned the food field is highly competitive, and is regulated by federal, state and local health authorities.

The handbook listed four "musts" for the home business woman—do something you do well, where it is needed, at a price which will attract buyers, and naturally operate at a profit.

It included numerous ideas. In the needlework department, for instance: Alteration of clothes, clothing repair, a children's clothing exchange to trade out-grown but not worn-out garments for better fits, monogramming, quilting, or becoming a "bachelor's aide", turning cuffs and collars, darning socks, and attaching buttons.

Is Bride of T. I. Naylor At St. Cajetan

—Louis Studio Photos

Mrs. Thomas I. Naylor

Mayor and Mrs. Hugo J. Parente, of 401 McKee Ave., are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Laurie, to Thomas I. Naylor. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Naylor, of Windber.

The nuptial high mass was solemnized this morning, May 27, at 11 o'clock in St. Cajetan R. C. Church with Msgr. Pascal P. Parente, an uncle of the bride, officiating. The wedding rites received the Papal blessing.

Wearing a chapel length gown of white silk taffeta with inserts of pearl embroidered Chantilly lace, the bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip veil cascaded from a pearl bordered hat of matching silk taffeta and she carried an arrangement of white cymbidium orchids and stephanotis centered with pearls.

The bride asked one of her classmates from Seton Hill College, Marie Zitz, of Camden, N. J., to be her maid of honor and serving as the bridesmaids were Marguerite Nannie, of Cleveland, Ohio, another classmate, Teresa Naylor and Rita Naylor, sisters of the bridegroom, Patricia Maley, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, a cousin and as the junior bridesmaid, Dora Jean Parente, sister of the bride.

Identical Gowns

All of the attendants were identically attired in cocktail length gowns of silk organza in hollyhock pink. They wore Dior bows of American Beauty shaded velvet in their hair and carried bouquets of long stemmed American Beauty roses tied with matching velvet ribbon.

Parente, of Monessen, wore a bronze lace dress with matching accessories and a beige cymbidium corsage. A's Hire State Psychologist

A Penn State psychologist, Dr. R. G. Bernreuter, has accepted a job as counselor for the Kansas City Athletics in the American League. Dr. Bernreuter, who annually counsels thousands of college students, will do the same with the Athletics, suggesting off-season and post-baseball jobs. "This is a completely new approach to an old problem," says the Pennsy State psychologist. Five State Records Set During PIAA Meet

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — The 31st annual PIAA track and field championships went into the record books today as one of the most exciting meets since the event began.

Five state records were established, two others were equalled and two champions were dethroned during the week end at the Pennsylvania State University. More than 800 athletes competed.

District 7 (WPIAL) scored 71 points in a successful defense of its Class A championship and District 1 took the Class B title with 74 points. Lower Merion, which took firsts in the high and low hurdles and the relays won the Class A team honors. Scotland was the Class B team winner.

George Hearn, who recently set a national scholastic mark in the high hurdles with 13.9 seconds was a double winner Saturday. He was ahead in the high hurdles in 14.1 and the low hurdles in 19.3. His high hurdle win equalled the state record set in 1953 by Rod Perry of Coatesville.

Norbert McNulty, Ridley Twp. with a pole vault of 12 feet, 11 inches, and John Johnston, who ran the 440 in 48.6 seconds were individual Class A record breakers. McNulty's vault broke the record of 12 feet, 10 inches set in 1948.

Betters Mark

Johnston's feat clipped one second off the 440 mark set last year by Dick Hambright, Tyrone.

Lower Merion set a relay record in the Class A mile with 3:20.8 and Darby Borough matched its own record in the Class B mile relay with 3:27.1.

Class B marks were set by West Lawn's shot put of Paul Kopf who won with a toss of 49 feet, 5 inches, and Mal Dekas, Scotland, who won the 440 in 49.8 seconds and ran on the school's winning $80 yard relay team.

The old Class B mark in the pole vault, 10 feet, 6 inches, was cleared by 15 boys. Jay Hearn and Bob Raemore, Williamsport, were the Class A double winners in the 100 and 220 events.

Class B double winners were George Draksler, United Joint, in the shot put and discus throw and Dan Maloney, Darby Borough, in the 100 and low hurdles.

Champs Dethroned

Dethroned were Lew Ireland, Manheim Twp., in the Class A javelin and Bob Worrell, Centerville, in the Class B shot put. Stan Hugo, Athens, and Ray Burns, Indiana, Greencastle - Antrim, tied for the pole vault with leaps of 12 feet.

Jan Sikonski, Mt. Pleasant who marked the javelin 22 feet, 10¾ inches, two weeks ago for a national scholastic record, succeeded Bryand as titleholder in Class A with 201 feet, two and inches. B. J. Taylor, Pottsville, tossed the shot put 56 feet, five inches to take the PIAA title.

Williamsport with 20 points finished behind Lower Merion in the Class A team events. Connellsville was next with 19 followed by Mt. Lebanon 17, Clairton 12, Norristown 10, Harborcreek 10, Chester 8 and Mt. Carmel 7.

A. G. Steel of Scranton, Ore. 6½, Penn 27, Three Rivers 18, Erie 18, Easton 10, Sun Valley 7½, Pine Richland 4 and Two 2.

Trailing Scotland for the Class B team honors were United Joint 19, Darby Borough 15, Smethport 13, Bloomsburg 10½ and Smethport 10.

Ozarks Play Host to West Newton Tonight

Monessen's Ozarks hope to end a five game losing streak today at Ninth Street Park.

The city nine will play host to winless West Newton in Mon Valley League action.

Even the sagging Ozarks figure they should win that one.

The five-game tailspin plummeted the Ozarks from first place in the Mon Valley League standings to fifth.

Four of those losses occurred last week when the Ozarks were without several regular players for various reasons. This week the Monessen outfit promises to have a full crew again.

Other MVL attractions tonight will send Charleroi to Perryopolis, New Eagle to Fayette City and Donora to Van Voorhis.

The Tuesday card will show Donora at Perryopolis and West Newton at New Eagle.

After three weeks of action Fayette City and Charleroi are atop the league standings. Perryopolis is third with a 4-2 mark.

That's about how the pre-season forecasters picked the race.

Along with Van Voorhis, those teams are favored to wind up in the playoffs.

Valley League standings follow.

To Discuss Cuts in State Fish

Pennsylvania's Fish Commission will meet today to discuss possible cutbacks in its services.

According to the Commission the action is necessary because of the legislature's refusal to rush through a proposed fish license fee boost.

A source close to the commission indicated the agency was prepared to consider the possibility of closing two or three of its nine hatcheries; reduce travel allowances for fish wardens; and pare proposed lake construction.

But William Voight, Jr. executive director, declared "I personally hope, wish and believe that the commission will not make or order substantial reductions in its activities before its July meeting."

No Outline

Voight declined to outline proposals the commission will consider.

Meanwhile, a proposal calling for a $1.50 boost in fish licenses fees to $4 remained bottled up in the House Fisheries Committee.

The measure was brought to the floor at one point, but was recommitted when support for a general increase failed to materialize.

Chairman Clarence G. Stoner (R-Cumberland) said he holds little hope for passage of a large general boost by the present Legislature. But he said his committee is studying the problem in an effort to work something out.

To Urge Delay

Voight said he would urge a delay in commission action until July because the Legislature will probably be adjourned by then and the commission would know the revenue situation for its operations.

The commission is seeking a budget of about four million dollars for the 1957-59 fiscal period a reduction of about $360,000 from the 1955-57 period.

Wilkinsburg to Meet Brownies in WPIAL Baseball

A former Monessen High star will lead the Wilkinsburg High baseballers into their WPIAL elimination test against Brownsville at the Charleroi Stadium today.

He is Bill Parkinson, a standout basketballer at Monessen and later at Waynesburg College.

Bill served for several years as basketball boss at Monongahela, then moved on to Wilkinsburg where he assumed baseball duties.

So far in the WPIAL playoffs, Wilkinsburg has had just one assignment, defeating Trafford, 9-5.

Brownsville has eliminated two foes. The Brownies whitewashed Waynesburg, 4-0, in eight innings, then slammed Charleroi, 7-0.

Both of those shutouts were authored by junior Bob Chuey, who is also a basketball sensation. Chuey is scheduled to pitch again today.

Little League Begins Today

Both Divisions Have Twin Bills Scheduled for Openers

Monessen's Little League will begin the 1957 season today.

Two games are scheduled in both the American and National Divisions.

The American section will feature Park Service against the Ravens and VFW against Page Local at the Stadium Annex.

In the National division, Lions will meet CIO and Legion will take on the Elks at Memorial Stadium.

This season the Little League on two diamonds simultaneously. The two divisions will swap fields every week.

This will enable the Little Leaguers to play almost twice as many games during the 1957 campaign.

Other Changes

There are other changes in the LL program, too. For the first time, the champions of the two divisions will meet in a series to decide the city king.

Then, too, four teams will have new uniforms this season. The other four will get them next year.

One thing hasn't changed in the Little League program. The managers are still the same.

These men, who give their time without compensation, will direct the clubs:

Loop Managers

Little League officials today announced a slight revision in the opening week's schedule.

Because of commencement exercises, Wednesday games have been postponed until Friday. The regular Friday games will be played Saturday.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By GARY MIDDLECOFF

Those Little Putts

Sometime during this golf season, you will play one or more rounds under medal-play conditions.

If you are unaccustomed to medal play — and nine out of ten golfers are — practice a dozen or more putts of a foot or less in length before starting. This gives you the "feel" of tapping in those little putts. Without such practice, a six-incher can be pretty tough.

Another advantage to be gained from this tap-in-putt practice is that many players, accustomed to informal match play, will automatically knock the ball away when it comes to rest only an inch or so from the hole. This can be fatal in medal play.

You must count the stroke with which you knocked the ball away. Then you must start again from where the ball comes to rest and keep counting strokes until you hole it out.

Pirate Players Stick by Bragan

By MILTON RICHMAN

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Pittsburgh players today hailed Bobby Bragan as "the best manager in the National League" and put the blame squarely on themselves for their last-place showing so far.

"Bragan is so far ahead of the other managers it isn't even a contest," said Bob Friend, the club's ace pitcher. "How can anyone possibly blame him for what's happened? He can't go out there and pitch, hit and field for us."

The Pirates have lost 17 of their last 22 games. They snapped a five-game losing streak by beating the Phillies, 13-5, in the opener of a doubleheader Sunday, then dropped the nightcap, 6-3.

Along with the losses came a report last week that Bragan's job was in jeopardy but it was quickly denied by General Manager Joe L. Brown, who gave Bragan a vote of confidence.

"Some of the games we've lost would bring tears to the eyes of a hobby horse," commented shortstop Dick Groat, who was leading the club with a .352 average when he twisted his ankle and was carried off the field during Sunday's opener.

Pulled Real Boners

"We've pulled some plays in the field that were criminal, and I include myself," Groat added. "But anyone who blames Bobby is dead wrong. For my money, he's the best manager in the National League, and there are a lot of others who'll tell you the same thing."

An informal poll of the Pirate players bore out Groat's remarks.

"Groat is 100 per cent right," said catcher Hank Foiles. "Bobby has moved heaven and earth trying to get us started, but we've let him down by butchering up a lot of plays."

Pitcher Ronnie Kline, who has dropped six in a row without a victory, feels the same way about Bragan.

"He's one in a million, and like Groat says, I don't know of a smarter manager in the league than Bobby," Kline declared. "He's had a world of patience, not only with me but with all of us. We know how much it's killing him, losing these games, but I got a hunch it's going to be a much different story soon."

First baseman Dee Fondy described Bragan as "a terrific manager" . . . and so on, without a single exception, all down the line.

Isn't Exactly Cheering

While he isn't exactly cheering over the Pirates' showing, Bragan has steadfastly refused to become discouraged by the team's record up to now.

"This is too good a ball club to stay down," he points out. "We'll start moving. I'm sure of it. Up to now, we've hit every red light and stop sign on the road. But there's got to be a turn-off on this highway somewhere."

Just a year ago, the Pirates only a game out of first place and Bragan was being lauded as baseball's "miracle man" of the past decade. Today, the same fickle fans are booing him.

Exactly a year ago, Dale Long and Frank Thomas had hit 22 homers between them; right now, the entire Pittsburgh club has only 20 homers.

The fans seem to think it's all Bragan's fault. The Pirate players, though, claim they know better.

Cubs Defeat Milwaukee Twice to Keep Cincinnati in First Place

By FRED DOWN

Rookie Dick Drott is making good for the Chicago Cubs but he couldn't be a bigger hero in his native Cincinnati today if he had just discovered a magic cure — all for Ted Kluszewski's aching back.

The 20-year-old Drott struck out a season single-game high of 15 batters Sunday to beat the Milwaukee Braves, 7-5, and the Cubs made it a clean sweep when Ernie Banks' ninth - inning single produced a 5-4 victory in the nightcap. Drott's performance came within two of Dizzy Dean's National League strikeout mark and within three of Bob Feller's major league record.

The two defeats were a bitter blow to the Braves, who dropped into third place as the front-running Redlegs downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6, on pitcher Hal Jeffcoat's eighth-inning homer and Clem Labine's close-out relief pitching enabled the Brooklyn Dodgers to beat the New York Giants, 5-3, and take over second. The Philadelphia Phillies bounced back from a 13-5 loss to whip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3, in the other N.L. games.

The Chicago White Sox retained their three - game grip on first place in the American League when they split with the Cleveland Indians while the New York Yankees and Washington Senators divided their pair. Billy Pierce outdueled Bud Daley for a 1-0 White Sox victory before relief ace Ray Narleski stopped Chicago, 4-3, and the Yankees downed the Senators, 7-6, after suffering a 9-7 setback.

The Boston Red Sox swept the Baltimore Orioles, 9-0 and 5-4, and the Kansas City Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-1, in the other A.L. activity.

May Probe Fish Commission

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House Rules Committee today considered a bipartisan resolution for a legislative investigation of personnel policies of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

The legislation asked the House speaker to appoint a five member committee to make an inquiry of personnel practices including recruitment, hiring, promotion, demotion and dismissal of employes to determine if the commission had acted in any case without justification.

The resolution was the second offered by Rep. William H. Brand (R-Lycoming) to look into Fish Commission activities. Earlier a Brand resolution asked for a specific inquiry of the demotion last June of Clarence W. Shearer from the post of division supervisor for north-central Pennsylvania to fish warden.

The new resolution was co-sponsored by Reps. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron) and Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield).

Two Injured In Plane Crash

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—A flying instructor and a student were injured Sunday when their Piper Cub crashed in a field in North Huntingdon Twp.

Robert Lee Finnegan, 27, Buena Vista, the pilot-instructor, and Alberta Nelson, 22, McKeesport, were reported in satisfactory condition in Westmoreland Hospital. Both had facial lacerations and possible back injuries.

Finnegan, who also suffered possible head injuries, told police he was practicing glides when the engine conked out. He was able to walk from the crash, but Miss Nelson needed assistance. The plane belly-landed on the Fink farm.

The crash occurred a half hour after the plane took off from the East Pittsburgh Airport.

Waynesboro Boy Win Golf Title

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Ted McKenzie proved he was his father's star pupil when he won the Pennsylvania schoolboy golf championship in a sudden death playoff over Penn State's 6055-yard, par 69 course.

The Waynesboro sharpshooter parred the 380-yard first hole in the playoff to top WPIAL champion Jack Vernocy, of Moon Twp., by a stroke Saturday. The two wound up the 54-hole title play in 218 strokes. But Vernocy missed a five-foot putt on the extra hole and McKenzie clinched the title with par four.

McKenzie, son of a Waynesboro golf pro, shot the last round in 75 while Vernocy finished with 76.

Bill Hyndman, Abington, and Harold Sweigert, defending champion from Conalloco Union, Lancaster County, tied for third place with 220 strokes each.

For the fourth straight year, Rusty Garver, of York, is the Pennsylvania marble champion.

Garver won the 1957 crown on Saturday in Greensburg during the annual tournament staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Garver, who last year defeated Monessen's Eugene Ninchak in title play, this year handled William Meng, also of York, for the crown.

Ronald Caldro, of Rillton, who represented Westmoreland County, placed third in the event.

The state champion will next appear at Seattle, Wash., on June 20, 21 and 22 for the national tournament.

Billy Graham Hopes to Repair American Home

NEW YORK (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham implored American homes and wives Sunday night to turn to God in an effort to repair a breakdown of American family life

Using marriage as his theme, the 38 year-old evangelist deplored the nation's divorce rate which he said had "orphaned" some 750 000 children in American last year

If marriage is to be successful Graham said there must be a spirit of give and take, because marriage is a permanent relationship"

Following his sermon, 574 persons made decisions for Christ," bringing to 7 931 the number that has stepped forward at Graham's urging since his New York crusade opened May 14

Thousands Are Homeless in Parts of Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Fresh floods left thousands of persons homeless today in the Dallas and Fort Worth areas—many for the third time in a month.

More than 4,000 persons were evacuated at Fort Worth Sunday when the muddy Cleark and West forks of the Trinity River flooded 700 homes. Another 2,000 fled their homes in the Dallas area to escape floodwaters from the rampaging Trinity.

At Dardanelle, Ark., workers struggled along a seven-mile front to contain the Arkansas River which threatened to smash over a levee and inundate 20,000 acres of corn and cotton and some 200 homes.

The Trinity River crested at 41.7 feet Sunday night in Dallas, where flood stage is 28 feet. It was the third major flood in the area since April 26.

In Fort Worth water reached the eaves of homes in the Richland Hills area, but it was receding rapidly.

Downpours of up to five inches created new flood threats in south Texas on the Colorado River watershed.

The 75 persons who comprise the community of Nugent in west Texas left their homes when the Cleark fork of the Brazos River flowed into the streets.

In Abilene 12 homes were still underwater from week-end floods.

Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to sieze.

Race Drivers Pass Along Tips On Driving Safely, Staying Alive

(Thousands of Americans will die on the highways in the vacation season which starts with the coming Memorial Day week-end. This is the first of two dispatches by veteran race winners passing along tips for driving safely—and staying alive.)

By JOHNNY PARSONS
1950 Winner Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

America's summer madness begins this week end.

There are going to be lots of cars on the highways in the vacation season, and some of the drivers are going to do crazy, unaccountable things.

They're going to make right turns from left lanes; they're going to stop without warning or suddenly veer out into yellow-marked middle lanes (even though you're already there); they're going to be tired, sleepy, unconcerned—even mad.

You can expect to meet these guys any time, any place. But the main thing is Don't You be one of them.

I drive up to 60,000 miles a year from race to race and cover 150 schools a month for the Champion Spark Plug Co.'s highway safety program. I talk safety to youngsters, many of whom look upon race drivers as daredevils. I tell them that speeding and reckless driving are signs of immature driving.

One of the reasons why 40,000 lives are lost annually on U.S. highways is the complete lack of mental alertness. In other words, keeping your eyes open—watching your own actions as well as those of other drivers.

We have no idea whether the man coming towards us will turn in front of us. If we travel bumper to bumper at unsafe speeds, a sudden turn or stop will make a line of automobiles look like a crumpled accordion. You can't wave your hands in conversation while driving.

At the speedway, every crew has somebody ready to go in relief if the starting driver begins to show undue strain. Daily our highways are loaded with people trying to drive themselves to a frazzle to complete a trip. Take a common sense tip:

When there is more than one driver in a car, split the driving assignments regularly. If not, then a practical suggestion would be to take a break every 100 miles. On a long trip a lot of mileage can be covered—covered safely—under that plan.

There is also the matter of courtesy. To us on the speedway, courtesy is absolutely essential. If we don't show it, the people who run auto racing will ask us to find another way to make a living. On the racetrack—or on the highway—there is no excuse for carelessness or rudeness.

Here are some discourteous acts which lead to trouble: Leaving the curb without looking; stopping bumper-to-bumper in traffic and not giving some guy a break when he's trying to get away from the curb; speeding up after someone's started to pass you; cutting in and out of slow-moving traffic.

And there is the "hometown" driver who turns or stops without thinking to signal—the one who "if you hit him gets mad and says, "Why you oughtta know I was going to turn here. I've been doing it every day at this time for 20 years."

Just for the fun of it, leave your home tomorrow with the idea you're going to give every motorist a break. You'll be surprised how good it will make you feel. And who knows? It may rub off on the other fellow and start a chain reaction that can save a life—maybe yours.

Unpopular Politician

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (UP)—A candidate for alderman has thanked the 12 persons who voted for him before he retired from politics. In a note published in the Neshoba Democrat, W. L. Houston said: "There's still one thing my friends should know, live or die, sink or swim, I won't be guilty of this thing again.' It was signed: "W. L. Houston, the retired politician."

Miss Gantner offered prayer and the group sang "Blessed Assurance".

Routine reports were given during the business period by Mrs. Albert Lutes, secretary and Ruth Beazell, treasurer.

Mrs. Kirby as ways and means chairman announced that the class will begin the sale of ribbon as the next project to raise funds.

A covered dish luncheon was planned for June 21 at the next meeting.

MAY QUEEN CROWNING — St. Sebastian Church May Queen Dorothy Luzanski places a crown on the Blessed Virgin in ceremonies held at the church yesterday afternoon with girls of the Sodality taking part.

May Queen Ceremonies Held At St. Sebastian Yesterday

May Queen ceremonies were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 at St. Sebastian R. C. Church with a large congregation of members and guests in attendance.

Dorothy Luzanski, daughter of Mrs. Ann Luzanski, of Lynnwood, prefect of the Young Ladies Sodality had the honor of being the first May Queen in several years at St. Sebastian.

The members of the Young Ladies Sodality and the Junior Sodality took part and formed the procession into the church. There were 16 girls, who carried floral branches to form arches which the court members and the Queen passed through as they approached the altar.

The members of the court were attired in pastel colored gowns. They were Vivian Gavazzi, Audrey Lupori, Ermina Manzini, Merilee Ceccarelli, Jackie Cirillo, Rosemary Galiotto, Patricia Semancik, Mary Ann Guzzi, Patricia Ferrari and Judy Rizzutto.

The maid of honor was Elaine Lazzari, who was attired in a blue gown and preceded the Queen in the procession. Two little flower girls, Mary Ann Sedney and Kathy Semancik, wore white dresses with blue sashes with flowered headbands and carried bouquets. The trainbearers, Olivia Picchiarini and Terry Valdiserri were similarly attired. The blue and white color scheme represented the colors of the Sodality. The Queen was in a white gown with a blue cape.

The singing of the hymns interspersd the ritual and the Rev. David Fisher, assistant church pastor, blessed the May crown, which the Queen presented and then placed on the head of the statue of the Blessed Virgin. All of the attendants then presented bouquets before the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Henry Marcinak, assistant priest of the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church and benediction followed. Before the recessional the girls of the Sodality presented Miss Luzanski with a small statue of the Virgin Mary.

After the service at the church the girls were entertained informally at the Luzanski home and refreshments were served.

The Rev. Henry Hanse and the Rev. Henry Murphy took part and Mrs. Blanche Yencsik was organist.

Lions Meet Tomorrow

Mimirian Literary Society in 25th Anniversary Luncheon

A luncheon party at Century Inn on Saturday afternoon formally concluded the 1956-57 club year for the Mimirian Literary Society and served a dual purpose as it was also arranged to celebrate the silver anniversary of the club's organization.

Organized 25 years ago with a membership of 12, the club now has a membership of 20 women engaged in literary study. There were seven charter members among those present at Saturday's party.

Among the guests were Anne Gemmill, of Belle Vernon, and from out of town were Miss Marjorie Harvey, of St. Petersburg, Fla., a former member, Mrs. George Hornung, of Latrobe, a former member, Ruth and Lauretta Duff and Mrs. Ann Etheridge, of Bridgeville.

The afternoon's activities began with the serving of a one o'clock luncheon, which followed a brief informal reception for the former members and guests in attendance.

Green and gold was the color scheme used in the decorations in keeping with the club colors and each cover was marked with a miniature green and gold placecard in the form of an antique chair.

The large anniversary cake was cut and served by Miss Harvey, who was also celebrating her birthday anniversary. She was presented a corsage in green and gold as a birthday remembrance from the club members.

Also receiving a remembrance fro the club was Mrs. S. George Clarke, who will be leaving with her husband and children for her new home in Florida at the end of June.

Mrs. Clifford Dickson took pictures during the afternoon and the president, Frances Lowman, was in charge of the meeting after luncheon in the lounge.

The final talk in the series of the study of Pittsburgh was presented by Mrs. C. L. Schoaf, who discussed Pittsburgh — The New Look". Mrs. Schoaf emphasized the progress of Pittsburgh today in various fields.

Highlighting the afternoon was the reading of many congratulatory messages from former members and friends. One of the congratulations came in the form of the presentation of two books as Mimirian anniversary gifts to the Belle Vernon Public Library. A cablegram was received from England from Mrs. Torsten Berg, a former club member.

Mrs. George Fee will be president of the club next year. There will be a picnic at the Annjo summer cabin of the Etheridge family near Ohiopyle.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Marion Presbyterian Church will meet on Wednesday evening in the church.

Steel Demand Shows Pickup Last Week

CLEVELAND (UP) — Production of steel ingots and castings followed its current downward trend at 84 per cent of rated capacity last week, but demand showed a mild pickup, Steel Magazine said today.

Last week's yield was reported at 2,149,972 net tons, 14.5 points under the mid-January high of 98.5 per cent and 2.5 points below the preceding week's rate.

Demand for cold-rolled and hot-rolled sheets, hot-rolled bars and merchant pipe sparked a gradual rising trend, the metalworking weekly said.

Steel consumption has been exceeding demand this year because producers have been operating off their inventories, the publication explained. It said many of these same consumers will soon be forced to begin replacing orders for maintenance of operating margins.

Steel predicted that consumption should remain high, pointing out that unfilled orders for durable goods are eight per cent higher in dollar volume than they were a year ago.

Users of heavier products, such as plates and structurals were reported increasing their production at the mills because of a slump in demand for some lighter sheets and strip products. The publication pointed out that the production mix was nearly reversed last year this time, with accent on sheets and strip because of piling consumer inventories prior to the strike.

The magazine said the shift in production mix at the mills was "temporary," but added that the change has helped heavy consumers such as ship and freight car builders, which use plates and structurals.

Shipyards were reported booking more business than they have had for some time, and railroad freight car orders were increasing in quantity.

A rise of $1.67 in the week ended May 22 put Steel's price composite for steelmaking scrap up $46.67 a gross ton. Lowest mark this year was recorded during the week ending April 24, at $42.50.

Eisenhower Personal Charm Wins Friends

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower's famous personal charm has won many a solid friend for the United States while being turned on a steady stream of foreign visitors during the past four years.

The "Eisenhower magnetism" has at least led to a better understanding of American views.

In slightly over four years 57 heads of state and other foreign dignitaries visited Eisenhower. These visitors, from almost all sections of the world, came back deeply impressed with the President's warmth, sincerity and dedication to democratic ideals.

The callers didn't always find Eisenhower fully informed on details of their problems. But the President listened with intense interest and showed that he was anxious to help in any way he could consistent with U.S. constitutional processes.

The principal visitors were transported in Eisenhower's plane, put up at the President's guest house, honored at lunch and dinner in the White House and given special conferences with the President.

American diplomats consider this side of the Eisenhower personality a tremendous asset to U.S. foreign policy.

One of the Chief Executive's most striking successes with a foreign caller came during the visit of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. It was a delicate but important job with American influence in the Middle East at stake.

Saud had just come from a meeting with Presidents Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Shukry El-Kuwatly of Syria, both pro-Soviet Arabs. Saud appeared to be cooperating partially with them before his trip to Washington but was solidly in the Western camp when he left the United States. He apparently had been persuaded that Nasser was not the hope of the Middle East as so many Arabs had believed.

Eisenhower went right to work on Saud from the moment he met the tall Arab ruler at Washington National Airport—a precedent-setting step in itself since the President had never gone to the airport before to greet anyone. Riding back to the White House the President expressed an interest in the lame young son of the king and arranged to have him treated at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, a move that made a big hit with Saud.

The Chief Executive pretty much saved the day as far as making a good impression on Saud was concerned. In New York, city officials who usually make a point of welcoming foreign dignitaries pointedly snubbed Saud because of his opposition to Jews and his acceptance of slavery in Saudi Arabia. Their action got Saud's visit off to a bad start, but Eisenhower neatly retrieved the situation.

Bootlegging Pop

FLORALA, Ala. (UP)— They're bootlegging soda pop here. Distributors cut off supplies of soft drinks in protest against a 16-cent-a-case city tax, but the dealers' coolers somehow have managed to remain fully stocked. Mayor A. H. Lurie said soft drinks would remain in plentiful supply all summer, tax or no tax.

Memorial Day Parade in Fayette City on Thursday

Fayette City this year will return to the tradition of holding a Memorial Day parade preceding services at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.
This year's return to the tradition was the result of requests made to the Brightwell-Daugherty Post, American Legion. Joseph Williams, chairman, has disclosed the program.
The paraders will assemble at the school house at 9:45. There will be colors from the Legion and the Fayette City Drum and Bugle Corp. Music will be provided by the Bellmar High School Band. Boy and Girl Scouts will be in uniform, decorated bicycles and their owners are encouraged to participate as well as anyone else desiring to take part.
The parade route will begin at the school, go down Market to Main, to Second rounding the Memorial Park at the south end of town, travel the full length of Main St. then up Connellsville to the cemetery where the following program will be presented.
Invocation will be by the Rev. D. Earl Daniel, of the Fayette City Presbyterian Church. Pledge of allegiance by Harold Keenan, chaplain of the American Legion. Group singing will be led by Mrs. Wellington Baldwin, directress of the Methodist Church Choir and in charge of the combined choir taking part in the program. Mrs. Howard McCrory, chairman of Americanism and Thurman Bailey, adjutant, will present the medal awards to Linda Wilson and James Batwinis, who were selected as outstanding pupils of the Marion Junior High School's eighth grade. James Batwinis will respond by reading "In Flanders Field." Linda Wilson will give the answer to Flanders Field.
The combined choirs of three of the Fayette City churches will sing, "This is My Country". Mrs. George Roy will pay tribute to the Gold Star mothers. Mrs. Roy is chaplain of the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Baldwin will then sing, "Sleep, Soldier Boy."
The guest speaker of the day is Melvin B. Bassi, Charleroi attorney. The choir will sing, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mrs. D. Earl Daniel will be accompanist for the musical portions of the program. The Rev. John Bowers, of the Church of Christ, will give the benediction and the service will be continued at the mound where the salute to the dead will be given by the firing squad and playing of Taps. Irwin Abbott is commander of the Firing Squad.

Girl Scouts in Special Meeting To Make Plans

A special meeting of the Fayette City neighborhood council of Girl Scouts was called recently by the president, Mrs. George Moody.
Plans were made for the weekend camp at Camp Mahogany, Laurel State Park, near Somerset, June 7, 8, 9.
Reservations are being made for any member of the Brownies, Intermediate and Senior Scouts whether they are accompanied by their mother or not. There will be a well represented group of leaders, committeewomen and mothers to serve as counselors for the girls. The group will leave on Friday, June 7 for the camp and return home on Sunday evening. A recreational program has been arranged by the camp chairman, Mrs. Clifford Carlson.
Tentative plans were made for the attendance of local scouts to the annual Day Camp at Monessen Park under the sponsorship of the Monessen area council. The camp is scheduled for the weeks of June 17 and 42.
All scout leaders were instructed to contact members of their troops to be at the Legion Home on Thursday morning, May 30 at 9:30 to participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Committees to Meet

Mrs. George Troth, newly installed president of the Fayette City Woman's Club, will meet with the chairmen of her committees this evening at 8 in the clubrooms of the Community Center. The members of each of the committees for the following year will be selected at this time.

Teleprompter Gets Big Use in TV Industry

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—You may find it hard to believe, but there is something that TV stars use more than Miltown.

Teleprompter.

A kind of electronic tranquilizer, Teleprompter is the genie that unreels scripts, commercials and ad libs during shows for those TV performers who are reasonably literate. It's only six years old, but it's big for its age.

All three networks lean on it, even for programs as informal as Arthur Godfrey's and Garry Moore's. In fact, just about the only big time star who isn't teleprompted is Perry Como—he uses cue cards, the cardboard sheets with words printed on them that were popular during the frontier days of the medium.

According to Herbert Hobler, vice-president in charge of sales at Teleprompter, some 120 stations around the nation also lease equipment from his outfit. It's used, too, by TV outlets in Great Britain, Canada, Cuba, Puerto Rico and Columbia.

"The political conventions in 1956 are a good example of the acceptance of Teleprompter," said Hobler today. "There were 148 speeches delivered at both conventions with its aid. Even Frank Clements, who had quite a reputation as a speaker, used it for his Democratic keynote address.

"In fact, there was one top GOP leader at San Francisco who had just about everything on his Teleprompter speech — when to raise his hand, when to stop for laughter, all sorts of cues. It was quite a successful speech."

Teleprompter generally is credited with turning former President Truman from a so-so platform speaker into a fairly polished one. For President Eisenhower, the Teleprompter people once developed an extra - large type so he could deliver his TV speeches without glasses. The "Eisenhower type" is five-eighths of an inch high instead of the usual one-half inch.

Steve Allen uses the "Eisenhower type" for his NBC-TV show.

Hobler points out that just about anything can be turned out on a Teleprompter — music, mathematical symbols, foreign tongues. When Arthur Godfrey had a female Japanese singer on his show not long ago, Teleprompter furnished her songs in her native language.

Marie Dionne Suffers from Leg Ailment

MONTREAL (UP) — Marie Dionne, considered the frailest of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, is suffering from a recurrent leg ailment, a source close to the family revealed Sunday night.

The disclosure ended speculation over the ailment which hospitalized the quint. Officials at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, where Marie is confined, have refused to admit that she is a patient.

However, the informant, who wished to remain anonymous, said Marie is suffering from a mild case of hemangioma—a tumor affecting a blood vessel in the calf of her leg. The friend said that Marie has been undergoing radium treatment.

The ailment, which has plagued Marie in the past, is not considered serious. The quint's family at Callander, Ont., does not plan to visit her at the hospital in Montreal.

The four surviving quints will celebrate their 23rd birthday on Tuesday, but they will not be together for the occasion.

Your Health—

What to Know When Choosing A Physician

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Do you have your own family physician?

All of you should have a doctor you know, trust and respect. You will feel much more at ease with him and you will be more apt to consult him quickly if you feel ill. If you have no personal physician, you will probably put off visiting the doctor until pain or illness force you to go and at times that may be too late.

I have repeatedly stressed the importance of annual medical examinations for all of you, no matter what your age. You are more likely to have these check-ups if you can arrange them with a doctor you know.

One way is to ask several persons, whose judgment and opinions you respect, to recommend a good doctor. If a couple of your friends recommend the same physician, chances are you will be pretty satisfied with him.

Another method is to ask your local medical society or office of the American Medical Association for a recommendation.

Generally these groups will give you a list of two, three or more doctors in your vicinity from which to choose.

Should you desire more information about a doctor you can check the American Medical Directory in your local library. Listed in this directory are each doctor's training, specialty, hospital and teaching affiliations and other pertinent information.

Once you do find a doctor you like, keep a record of his name, address and phone number where it always will be available.

In an emergency, you will be glad you have your own doctor. But if you cannot reach him immediately, there are several ways in which you can summon help.

You can phone a nearby hospital, a physician listed in the phone book or the police. Or, in an emergency, to save time, just tell the operator you need a doctor.
